

Internship Opportunities: Hosanna School Museum

Organization Overview:

Hosanna School Museum, established in 1867 as the first public school built for African Americans in Harford County, Maryland, preserves and interprets the Harford County history of African American education, community, and freedom. The museum serves as a vibrant educational and cultural hub, engaging visitors through exhibitions, programs, and heritage tourism initiatives that highlight local and national stories of perseverance and empowerment.

Location: Darlington, Maryland (some hybrid or field work opportunities may be available)

Position Summary:

Hosanna School Museum seeks motivated and enthusiastic interns to assist with museum operations, research, education, and public programming. This internship provides hands-on experience at a historic site and a community-based museum setting, offering an opportunity to contribute to preserving and interpreting vital American history and heritage in Maryland.

Responsibilities may include:

- Assisting with visitor services, tours, and public events
- Conducting historical research and contributing to exhibitions or digital projects
- Supporting educational programming and community outreach
- Cataloging and maintaining collections and archives
- Assisting with marketing, social media, and communications
- All other duties as assigned

Qualifications:

- Interest in history, museum studies, education, African American studies, or related fields
- Strong communication, research, and organizational skills
- Ability to work both independently and collaboratively
- Flexibility for some weekend or evening events

Compensation:

Internships may be offered for academic credit or as volunteer opportunities. Paid positions may be available at $17.00 an hour, depending on grant funding.

Benefits:

- Mentorship and professional development from museum staff
- Experience in museum operations, interpretation, and heritage preservation
- Opportunities to present research or contribute to public programs
